How to grow sunflowers

Make sure you wear gloves when handling your sunflower or wash your hands well afterwards.

Put newspaper or plastic down when dealing with compost or soil to minimise mess.

Sunflowers are easy to grow but watch out for snails and slugs when the plants are young and tender.

Seeds should be sown in rich soil or compost, in spring and summer when the soil has warmed up.

Seeds should be planted in clumps about half a metre apart, 3 seeds to a clump. The seeds should be planted about 5mm deep.

Keep the soil moist, After about 3 months you should have beautiful flowers the size of dinner plates.

Did you know?

1. Sunflowers can grow over 20 feet tall.
2. There's a variety of sunflower called the Teddy Bear.
